DETAILED ACTION

Specification

The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities:

There appears to be a misspelling on page 3 line 1. It currently states "Further objets" and should read "Further objects".

Appropriate correction is required.

The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because of the use of the word means. Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).

Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 11, 14, 15, 16, 17, and 21 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Boudard et al. (U.S. Patent No. 6,530,925).

Boudard et al. disclose a system comprising a chassis (8) and one or more fixation elements (2) in the form of screws or pins. The fixation elements are to be received in a bone structure and are screwed into the chassis and bone structure in such a way that screws move equidistantly in the chassis and the bone structure to produce a force neutral form. There are also no axial forces transferred to the screws after fixation. This device is placed at a distance from and not in contact with the underlying bone structure or skin.

Claims 11, 14-18, 20 and 21 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Herzberg (U.S. Patent No. 4,893,618).

Herzberg discloses a system comprising a chassis (23) and one or more fixation elements (12) in the form of screws or pins. The fixation elements are to be received in a bone structure and are screwed into the chassis and bone structure in such a way that screws move equidistantly in the chassis and the bone structure to produce a force neutral form. There are also no axial forces transferred to the screws after fixation. The chassis is received in a rigid bracing (24) wherein the chassis is made of two parts received displaceable in an axial direction in relation to each other in the bracing that cap is formed between the two chassis parts (21 and 23). This device is placed at a distance from and not in contact with the underlying bone structure or skin.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 12, 13 and 19 are rejected, as understood, under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Herzberg (U.S. Patent No. 4,893,618).

Herzberg discloses the claimed invention except for the chassis being made of ultra high molecular weight polyethylene or the bracing being made of steel. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have created the chassis with ultra high molecular weight polyethylene or the bracing rod of steel, since it has been held to be within the general skill of a worker in the art to select a known material on the basis of its suitability for the intended use as a matter of obvious design choice. In re Leshin, 125 USPQ 416.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. See PTO-892 for art cited of interest.
